The Feminist Research Network (FRN) and the Legal Intersections Research Centre (LIRC) invites you to informal afternoon tea with Terry Threadgold

‘Interdisciplinary research during the PhD and Beyond’

A discussion with Terry Threadgold

Tuesday 21 April, 2015

Time: 2pm – 3.30pm
Location: LHA Research Hub, Building 19
Register: by 15 April to Kirsty Greatz: kirstyg@uow.edu.au
Registration is free

This is an invitation to all HDR students within the Faculty of Law, Humanities and the Arts, to be part of an informal discussion with Prof Terry Threadgold about issues surrounding interdisciplinarity and doctoral research. You will have the opportunity to discuss your research and ask questions in an informal and friendly environment with one of the experts in this field.

If you are interested, please register via email to kirstyg@uow.edu.au and include: the title of your project; the discipline you are in; and 3 sentences (max) describing your PhD project. This will be sent to Terry prior to the event so that she can provide tailored guidance and advice.

Terry Threadgold

Biography:

Terry is the Pro Vice Chancellor (PVC) at Cardiff University and works to connect the six Humanities Schools and support them in maintaining their strategic directions. Her role is to ensure that the strategic and operational concerns of the schools are firmly linked to the core teaching and research business of the university and to the well being of all university staff. Terry is also chair of the university’s Equal Opportunities and Diversity Committee, chair of the Positive working Environment Steering Committee, vice chair of the University Promotions Committee and of the Human Resources Committee.

Terry has published widely in the areas of postructuralist feminist discourse analysis, performance studies, feminist legal studies and on race, identity and nation in contexts of globalisation. She has also worked and published in the areas of postgraduate pedagogy and literacy and has a continuing interest in her current position in the training of journalists, journalism studies and media studies. Her current research interests include: media, representation and asylum; journalism and conflict and migration and social cohesion.

For more information about Terry, including her connections with UOW and a bibliography, see the LIRC website at: http://lha.uow.edu.au/law/LIRC/members/UOW156742.html
